

Publication Finder

Publication Finder is a tool used to search for specific journals, magazines, and newspapers available either online or in print through YC Learning Commons collections.

To search on Publication Finder

1. Go to the library website at <http://yukoncollege.yk.ca/library>
2. Click on “Publication Finder” under the column “Resources”. Click on the “Publication Finder” link.
3. To search, type in a keyword, publication title, or ISSN of the publication you are interested in and then click “search”.
4. To browse by discipline, simply click on the link to the area you would like to explore. Publication Finder automatically displays the number of publications available per field.

To access a publication (from the College)

1. Click either on the publication title or the “Full Text Access” link beneath the publication ISSN.
2. A list of databases that provide access to the publication will appear, as well as other conditions related to full text access (e.g. embargo periods). To open a publication, click on the database link beneath the publication title.

Choose a database

3. Use the options of the database to navigate by volume/issue or search within the publication.

To filter results

Once on the results page, use the options on the left column to refine results according to subject, resource type, and publisher.

Remote access

Access to a database from Publication Finder is not directly available when using a remote connection. Instead, use the “Remote Resources Page” (“Databases from home” section of the library website) to access databases and search for publications.

What if the publication is not available on Publication Finder?

You can request copies of articles through the Interlibrary Loan request on the website:
http://yukoncollege.yk.ca/library/pages/interlibrary\_loan\_request
